Texas A&M University System RELLIS Campus

The Texas A&M University System RELLIS Campus is a multi-institutional initiative that allows qualified students to earn degrees from universities in the A&M System while staying in the Bryan-College Station area. Students and faculty at this center will have the opportunity to become involved in the research and technology development projects occurring at the RELLIS Campus

The RELLIS Campus is conveniently located just 8 miles/15 minutes from Texas A&M University's main campus. This location has long been a place where Texas A&M has conducted world-class research, technology development, and workforce training in areas such as vehicle safety, traffic engineering, law enforcement training, biological materials processing, robotics, and unmanned aerial systems. Additional information about the RELLIS Campus can be found at <https://rellis.tamus.edu/>.

QUALIFICATIONS:

At a minimum, applicants must have earned an MBA, MA, MS, or Ph.D. with at least 18 semester credit hours at the graduate level in an appropriate business discipline from an AACSB accredited institution and possess a strong commitment to teaching excellence. In addition, a record of scholarly peer-reviewed publications, or significant professional experience, in one of these areas is required.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

Successful teaching experience, online and onsite, at the college level is preferred.
